Safety Precautions

1. Take a 10 minute break after each hour of continuous play to avoid eye strain.
2. Keep cartridge stored in places away from extreme temperature changes.
3. Do not drop or hit the cartridge. Do not attempt to take the game apart. Avoid touching the connector terminals.
4. Do not clean the game with benzene, paint thinner, alcohol or any other harsh solvent.
5. Store the cartridge in its protective case when not in use.

Meanwhile...Central City is Under Siege!

The Flash's greatest enemy, The Trickster, has escaped from prison and his plan for vengeance against the scarlet speedster is a blast! Several blasts, actually - he's planted bombs all across Central City and only our hero has the speed and agility to defuse them in time!

But The Trickster is not alone. He has gathered an army of muggers, street toughs and punks that are just waiting for a shot at the Flash. The Trickster has also recruited the evil Mirror Master and the deadly Captain Cold to assist him in his scheme to finally put The Flash on ice.

Meanwhile...Central City is Under Siege!

Can The Flash save Central City from the maniacal plans of the twisted Trickster? Race into action as you try to beat the clock in this super adventure from T•HQ!

Game Set-Up

Place the cartridge in the Game Boy and turn the machine on. This brings up the title screen. Press the A button to begin the story segment. Keep pressing the A button to toggle between Tina's and The Flash's conversation. When the conversation is over, pressing the A button takes you to the action portion of the game. Pressing the start button during any portion of the conversation also begins the action segment of the game.

Game Set-Up

To view the credits of the production team, press the B button while the title screen is showing. During game play, press the A, B, Start and Select buttons simultaneously to reset the game to the title screen. Push Start and Select at the same time to pause the game. Press any button while the game is paused to resume playing.

Surge Energy

Using the surge powers reduces The Flash's super energy, which is represented by the upper of the two energy bars shown in the Status Screen area at the bottom of the action screen. To restore his surge energy, The Flash must eat food. He can obtain food by first collecting money tokens (represented by the animated dollar signs), and then punching (B button) a vending machine.

The vending machines take as many tokens as the Flash has gathered, up to a maximum of five, and dispenses food items. The costlier the food item, the more energy it will restore. If The Flash has obtained more than five tokens, you can either punch the machine for more food or save the tokens for future use. Earned tokens will be carried forward from level to level. The amount of earned tokens can be found on the Status Screen on the bottom row, to the right of the dollar sign. If you lose a life, you also lose the money tokens that you have collected. If you have no tokens, don't bother punching the vending machines.

Surging can make The Flash vibrate through some inanimate objects. But if he's out of surge power, he'll have to slug his way through them with punches and kicks. The amount of surge-power is carried forward from level to level (except the train levels where he starts out at full power), and it is restored by his own actions. If you lose a life, the next Flash begins fully restored.

Controlling THE FLASH

B button - Makes The Flash punch. A button - Makes The Flash kick. The Flash reaches out farther with a kick, but they both do the same amount of damage. Use the directional arrows to maneuver the punches and kicks in three different heights.

Controlling THE FLASH

Hold down the A and B buttons at the same time (without moving the directional arrows), to start the surge-combat mode. This move comes in handy when The Flash is surrounded or is facing an unusually tough opponent. Hold down the A and B buttons while pressing Left or Right to make Flash surge in those directions. To make a super speed jump, press Up while Flash is surging across the screen!

Health Points

The lower of the two horizontal bars in the Status Screen represents The Flash's health. Every hit he takes from an enemy's punch, kick or bullet drains his health line. He loses a major amount of energy if he is caught near a small round bomb when it explodes! He restores health points by defeating enemy characters and by deactivating ticking bombs. Once these are done he can collect the glowing Flash symbols which appear on the screen.

Health Points

If all of the energy is drained from the health line, he loses a life and must start that level again (if he has another life), from the beginning.

Like the surge-power, The Flash's health points are carried over from level to level and are only increased by his actions or by starting a new life.

The Lives and Times of The FLASH

The number of lives The Flash has left is represented in the Status Screen by small lightning bolts on the left side, above the word SCORE. The Flash earns an extra life for every 20,000 points scored, up until he reaches 80,000 points. He starts out with three lives and can max out at seven! If he loses all of his lives, he must start the game again or go to the password screen. IMPORTANT NOTE: If The Flash has lost all of his lives and you wish to replay that level, simply press the Select button while the Trickster is on the screen!

The Lives and Times of The FLASH

In every level of the game The Flash's objective is to disarm one of The Trickster's Big Bombs in a set amount of time. The time left to complete this task is shown at the bottom right of the Status Screen, and during the last 30 seconds before the bomb goes off, a timer will sound off the remaining seconds.

The Flash disarms all bombs by punching them. He can ignore the small round bombs if he is running low on time, but he'll lose points that way. An audible clue will let you know when The Flash is near a bomb that may not be visible on the screen.

Scoring Points

The Flash earns points by: hitting an enemy, collecting money tokens and disarming bombs. You gain further points based on how much surge-power and time The Flash has at the completion of each level.

Enemy Characters

There are four types of villains in this game: those who punch and kick, those who fire weapons, Master criminals and holograms. The punch-and-kick variety are the easiest to dispatch with a few well-placed attacks. The ones who shoot at The Flash are stationary, yet very dangerous. The bullets they fire do a great deal of damage when they hit. The Master criminals (Captain Cold, The Mirror Master and The Trickster), have multiple attack methods and are the greatest threats to The Flash.

Enemy Characters

The Mirror Master has deployed several holographic enemies to confuse The Flash and slow down his progress. They resemble the punch-and-kick types, but they have a habit of "flickering". They have no true substance, so the only threat they pose to The Flash is a waste of precious time.
